DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant's election without traverse of invention I, the shaped charge penetrator, species A, sub-species alpha 1, and sub-species beta 1 in the reply filed on 9/12/2005 is acknowledged. As noted by the applicants' in the response filed 9/12/2002, the claims that read on this election are, claims 1-5, 15-17, 20-23, 25, 33 and 34.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claim 33 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. In lines 2, 3, "the first liner membrane" lacks a proper antecedent basis.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000.

Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

5. Claims 1-5, 15-17, 20-23, 25, 33 and 34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Powell (US 6,786,157 B1).

Regarding claim 1, Powell discloses a shaped charge penetrator (fig. 1) inherently capable of forming a perforation in a subterranean formation (col. 8, lines 13-30), the penetrator comprising a charge case, an explosive charge, inner 22 and outer liner membranes 32 with a particulated filler material therebetween (col. 4, lines 5-37).

Regarding claims 2 and 33, Powell discloses a metal cap 46 (aluminum tape) disposed upon the first liner membrane 22.

Regarding claim 3, 22, 23, Powell discloses that the filler comprises powdered aluminum.

Regarding claim 4, due at least to manufacturing imperfections, it is inherent that some of the particles of Powell's liner would be at least marginally coarser than others of the particles forming the liner filling 45.

Regarding claim 5, Powell's liner membranes 22, 32 are made of glass reinforced plastic.

Regarding claim 25, Powell's liner membrane 22, 32 are conical (fig. 1, col. 4, lines 17-20).

Regarding claim 15, Powell's liner membranes 22, 32 are contiguously affixed to one another (fig. 1, col. 4, lines 15-23) to completely enclose the filler material 45.

Regarding claims 16, 17, 21 Powell's aluminum filler material 45 has a density that is inherently below 2.7 g/cc (note the applicants' admission on page 9 of the specification regarding the density of aluminum), which would inherently be below formation density in a downhole environment.

Regarding claim 20, Powell's liner membrane comprises the first and second liner membranes 22, 32, the filler material 45 encapsulated therebetween. The density of Powell's aluminum filler material is below 2.7 g/cc which is inherently below formation density in a downhole environment (note the applicants' admission on page 9 of the specification regarding the density of aluminum).

Regarding claim 34, it is inherent to Powell that the liner forming a precursor jet is conformal to the charge case (fig. 1).

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Fong (US 6,510,797 B1); Fong (US 6,308,634 B1).
